"To improve is to change;
to be perfect is to change often."

— WINSTON CHURCHILL

Changes in all phases of school life were the 1963-64 term's most distinctive aspect. The removal of old practices and incorporation of new ideas lent CCHS an atmosphere of growth. The 1964 COLONNADE is dedicated to all changes with the hope that the wisdom derived will guide each student into areas of greater self-improvement and advancement. These new steps in development provide a complete picture of the Averett College, Danville. She spends the first period each morning making up the absentee list and the school bulletin for students and teachers. Her hobbies are cooking, canning, and sewing.

MR. JOSEPH HOCKMAN relays information to the press booth on a portable telephone during a district basketball game. MRS. POWELL BUTTON records receipts in school ledger.

Mr. FLOYD BINNS shows a note book to a customer in the school store. Mrs. RANDALL BLANKENSHIP checks reports handed in by her home ec class. Miss MARY GEORGE BOLEN relaxes in the sun with her pet, Ruff.

Faculty Consists of 16 Men, 27 Women

Mr. FLOYD BINNS teaches United States Government and psychology, sponsors the senior class, the school store, and coaches the softball team. He is a member of the Lions Club, the Mitchell's Ruritan Club, the Rescue Squad, and chaplain of the Culpeper Volunteer Fire Company.

Mrs. RANDALL BLANKENSHIP is the new home economics teacher. She obtained her B. S. degree at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. She serves on the home economics committee and sponsors the FHA. A member of the PTA, she enjoys sewing and reading.

Miss MARY GEORGE BOLEN is school librarian. Adviser to the COLONNADE and Co-adviser to the Library Club and Quill and Scroll, she received her degree at Longwood. She also attended the Columbia School of Library Service and the University of Virginia. Her dog, cats, gardening, and reading occupy her leisure time.

Mr. SHIRLEY BROYLES sponsors the FFA and teaches all classes of vocational agriculture. A member of the guidance and advisory committees, he belongs to the Ruritan Club and the Bethel Baptist Church.

Mr. ROLAND CLEMENT, JR. teaches History 8 and U. S. History, is adviser for the COLONNADE and assists in directing the senior play. A member of the social studies committee, he enjoys swimming, golf, and home movies.

Mrs. ROLAND CLEMENT, Jr. advises the September and October activities of the cheerleaders and coaches the girls' jayvee basketball team. She teaches U. S. history and world history.

Mr. SHIRLEY BROYLES writes out agriculture assignments for the next day's work.

Mr. and Mrs. ROLAND CLEMENT prepare a list of films for their U. S. history classes.

MRS. JOHN DAVIES makes out a monthly test for her trig class. MRS. ALBERT FURGUELE checks March of Dimes

15 Teachers Work First Year at CCHS

MRS. JOHN DAVIES teaches Algebra I and General Mathematics 8. A member of the math and guidance committees, she sponsors the National Honor Society. Her home, family, and church compose her out-of-school activities.

MRS. ALBERT FURGUELE sponsors the Library Club, is the assistant adviser of the FBLA, and serves on the social, welfare, and business committees. She teaches Typing I and II, Shorthand I, and Business Law. A graduate of Mary Washington College, she enjoys genealogy and antiques.

MR. WILLIAM HALL sponsors the Choral Club and teaches choral music. He sings in the Baptist Church choir. His hobby is music.

MRS. REBECCA HARMON teaches English

8 and 9. Sponsor of the Eager Beavers, she obtained her B.A. in secondary education from Longwood College. Horseback riding, sewing, and painting compose her hobbies.

MRS. WILFRED HARRIS teaches History 8, Science 8, and Preparatory Reading 8. A Mary Washington graduate, she advises the 4-H Club, participates in the Home Demonstration Club and Culpeper County Library Board of Directors. Her favorite pastimes are gardening and playing sports.

MISS NANCY HILTON obtained her B. S. degree from East Tennessee State University. She teaches business arithmetic, general business, and Typing II. She serves as sponsor of the Junior Tri-Hi-Y.

MRS. REBECCA HARMON checks her absentee list during third period. MRS. WILFRED HARRIS writes down telephone numbers before calling parents of absentees. MISS NANCY HILTON helps student, Peggy Hotchkin, with a typing job.

MRS. WILLIAM HOUCK sells a secondhand book to Barbara Aylor at FBLA's pre-school business venture. Miss MILDRED JONES plays a record of "My Fair Lady" to her senior English class. MRS. RICHARD JONES shows students a project done by an Art I student.

Teachers Supervise Parking Procedures

MRS. WILLIAM HOUCK is head of the business department and serves as Vocational Office Training coordinator. She teaches Shorthand I and II, Vocational Office Training, and office practice. Sponsor of the FBLA and typing adviser of the COLONNADE, she participates on the guidance, advisory and business committees.

MISS MILDRED JONES is chairman of the English department, teaches English 10, English 12, and sponsors the senior play. Her hobbies are bridge, reading, genealogy, and local history.

MRS. RICHARD JONES sponsors forensics, and teaches art and English 11. She is a member of the AAUW, community choir, and the Culpeper Players. Her hobbies are rughook-ing, knitting, sewing, ceramics, metal enameling, and other art activities.

MR. DONALD JUDY obtained his M.A. at the University of Virginia and teaches science and eighth grade guidance. He sponsors the Safety Patrol, and his hobbies are hiking and woodwork.

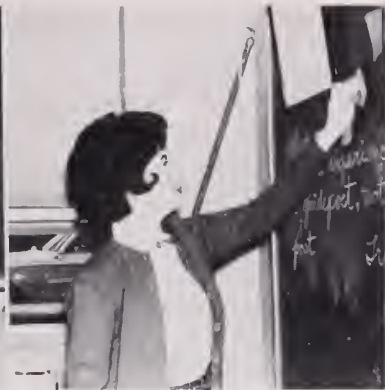

MISS BARBARA KINSEY teaches bookkeeping, business math, and Typing I. She obtained her B.S. at Madison College. She is on the business committee and sponsors the Junior FBLA. Her hobby is reading.

MISS SARA LOUTHAN teaches eighth and ninth grade math and sponsors the cheerleaders for two months. She obtained her B.S. degree at Radford College.

MR. DONALD JUDY works on a student's record in the guidance department. Miss BARBARA KINSEY supervises typing student, Ann Lane, as she takes a timing. Miss SARA LOUTHAN shows her class how to use a compass.

MRS. MALCOLM MITCHELL makes out a pop test for her Algebra class. Miss JOAN MOWRY washes the blackboard in her homeroom. Mrs. WILLIAM O'BANNON talks with foreign exchange student, Martha Chaverri, who is examining a football given her in Orange.

Instructors Sponsor All Club Activities

MRS. MALCOLM MITCHELL, head of the mathematics department, teaches Algebra II and General Math 8. A graduate of Mary Washington, she sponsors the Junior Dramatic Club.

Miss JOAN MOWRY teaches English and sponsors the Dramatic Club and Thespian Troupe 1067. She is on the citizenship committee of the CCEA. Her hobbies are sewing, reading, baking, and traveling.

MRS. WILLIAM O'BANNON teaches Spanish I, II and III. She sponsors the Junior class and SCA and is on the social committee.

MRS. WALTER PALMER obtained her M.A.

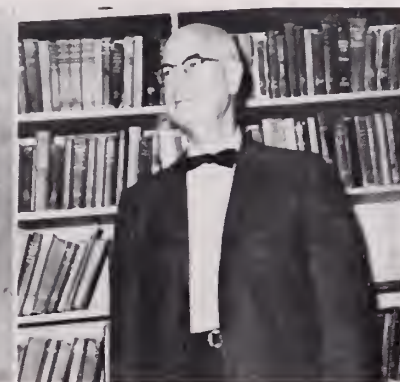

at VPI. She teaches PEG Math, Math 8, geometry and trigonometry. She is on the guidance and math committees and sponsors the Junior 4-H.

Mr. JOHN PEIFER teaches geometry, honors math, and physics. A member of the advisory committee, he enjoys reading and fishing.

Mr. CHARLES PENDLETON teaches world geography and English 10. He obtained his B.A. at the University of Richmond. He is on the social studies committee, sponsors the Hi-Y, and is pastor at Eley's Ford and Oakland Baptist Churches. His hobbies are reading and hunting.

MRS. WALTER PALMER shows her trig class how to use a circle graph. Mr. JOHN PEIFER waits in the library for the beginning of his first class. Mr. CHARLES PENDLETON, second from right, watches the football players carefully as the end of the half approaches.

during third period. MRS. AUBREY ROSS lectures about Winston Churchill to her Honors English class.

Three Ministers Serve On CCHS Staff

MR. ANDREW PUCKETT, JR. teaches general science and biology. He obtained his B.A. at Vanderbilt University and his B.D. at South-eastern Baptist Theological Seminary. His hobbies include fishing, basketball, and tennis.

MR. JAMES REVELL, a graduate of RPI, teaches DE and ICT. He is an assistant sponsor of SCA and is sponsor of the DE and ICT Clubs. He also is a member of the Kiwanis Club. His hobbies are golf and travel.

MRS. AUBREY ROSS teaches English 10 and Honors English. She sponsors the Pepergram and is on the English Committee. She attends the Culpeper Presbyterian Church. Her hobbies are bridge and reading.

MISS SHARON STONE teaches English and sponsors the Tri-Hi-Y. She obtained her B. A. at Pennsylvania State University. Her hobbies are horseback riding, bridge, and swimming.

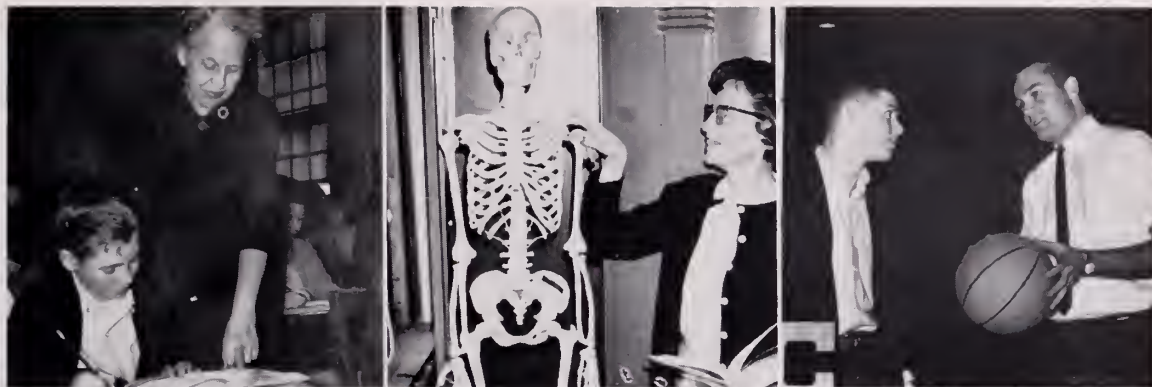

MRS. CATHERINE SYMONS teaches chemistry, Honors Science, and biology and is on the science committee. She attended Mary Washington College. Her hobbies include sewing, bowling, and reading.

MR. WALTER THOMAS teaches Instrumental Music classes, sponsors the marching and concert bands, is on the program committee, and is chairman of the District N Music section. His hobby is sports.

MISS SHARON STONE chats with English students, Roberta Crowell and Charles Edwards. MRS. CATHERINE SYMONS performs an experiment to show her chemistry class proper use of various lab equipment. MR. WALTER THOMAS signs a COLONNADE for Addison Willis on Class Day.

MISS LAURA THORNHILL translates a hard Latin sentence for a Latin I student. Mrs. Spencer Vaughan uses a skeleton to illustrate her lecture on bones. MR. JAMES WARREN starts to show Monty Saunders a new technique.

New Equipment Aids Academic Work

MISS LAURA THORNHILL teaches world history and Latin I, II, and III. She is Y-club coordinator, a member of the Culpeper Garden Club, and Fire Auxiliary. Her hobbies are walking, reading, and traveling.

MRS. SPENCER VAUGHAN teaches biology and Science 8. She sponsors the sophomore class and is on the science committee. Her hobby is reading.

MR. JAMES WARREN teaches boys' physical education and sixth grade science at Ann Wingfield. He coaches football and basketball.

MRS. JANET-CARY WAYLAND teaches girls' physical education, sponsors the Girls' Monogram Club, hockey, varsity basketball, and is cheerleaders' sponsor.

MR. EDWARD WELD is industrial arts instructor. His hobbies are swimming, boating, photography, and gardening. He is also a member of the Jaycees.

MR. WILLIAM WENZEL is assistant athletic director. He teaches boys' health and physical education, General Science 8 and 9, and sponsors the Junior Monogram Club. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

MRS. JANET-CARY WAYLAND demonstrates the right way to hold a basketball to varsity player, Kay Kilby. MR. EDWARD WELD selects a tool to be used by a woodworking student on a cedar chest. MR. WILLIAM WENZEL draws diagrams on the board for a Jayvee basketball player, Douglas Shaw.

Mrs. Frederic Gordon and Mrs. Andrew Brown chat in the guidance room before school. Mrs. Thornton

Stringfellow and Mr. John Davis pursue their pastimes between classes.

Four Teachers Join Faculty at Mid-Term

CAFETERIA WORKERS—Mrs. Carlton Heflin, Mrs. Gene Iager, Mrs. Mahlon McAllister, and Mrs. Hugh Foster cut gingerbread for lunches. Missing from picture: Mrs. Gabriel Hoffman.

CUSTODIANS—Ollie Robinson and Charles Lane.

Four workers cheerfully prepared meals for the 700 students daily. They also cooked food for any school banquets.

Two custodians repaired breakdowns in school or classroom equipment during the day. Every afternoon they emptied trash cans and cleaned all the halls and rooms.

Four teachers joined the faculty of CCHS after the second semester. Mrs. Frederic Gordon and Mrs. Thornton Stringfellow kept study halls. Mrs. Andrew Brown aided with girls' physical education. Mr. John Davis filled the vacancy left by Mrs. Rebecca Harmon.

BUS DRIVERS—Front Row: Roger Suder, Mrs. Homer Jenkins, Victor Jones, Walter Wortman, Powell O'Bannon, Paul Compton. Second Row: Frank Gimbel, Mrs. Carlton Heflin, Mrs. Roland Iager, Mr. John Thorpe, Mr. Norman

Wilbur. Third Row: Mr. Curtis Weaver, Mr. Charles Harlow, Mrs. Humphries Estes, Addison Willis, Steve White, Mr. Kenneth Brown, Mr. Eugene Clatterbuck, Kenneth Smith.

Drivers, Office Workers Serve CCHS

Bus drivers must be qualified drivers and good disciplinarians. The nine students, who drive buses, leave classes at 3:05 every afternoon to bring them to the front of the school.

Six dependable girls spend their study halls typing, running the mimeograph machine, collecting absentee slips, and doing other odd jobs for the regular office staff.

OFFICE WORKERS—Mary Bache, Mary Edwards, Joice Baldwin, Frances Bayne, Shirley Norris and Susan Beard file students' records. The girls also distribute notices and absentee lists.

Participants Receive Credit for Forensics

TERM PAPER RESEARCH—Lana West helps George Colvin, right, collect information in library workroom while Mary Kinzer looks in Readers' Guide for source material.

POETRY BOOKLET—Judith Painter, Mary Robson, Elaine Haight, Susan Beard, and Katherine Topham, English 11 students, compile and illustrate an original poetry manuscript.

Last year's lack of interest in forensic participation prompted English classes to give credit to pupils competing in any of the four areas. Students received grades for their spelling, prose or poetry reading, or public speaking.

Honoring the Bard of Avon's 400th birthday, English 12 pupils celebrated Shakespeare Day April 23. Students selected and presented their own projects.

CHESHIRE CHEESE CLIQUE—Members of Samuel Johnson's literary group, Ann Reaugh, John Hill, William Bryant, Collier Cropp, Emily Button, discuss problems of the era in senior English coffee house.

Departments Initiate Group Instruction

GULLIVER'S TRAVELS?—Marvin Capano applies finishing touches to his history project, Spirit of St. Louis, before its first flight.

All 109 pupils of the second period study hall took the same three courses—Mr. Andrew Puckett's Science 8; Miss Joan Mowry's English 8; and Mr. Roland Clement's U. S. and Virginia History 8—the teachers were able to swap class periods and study hall. By this plan they could present film strips, lectures, or administer tests once, instead of three times.

Collier Cropp, Jane Furgiuele, discuss nominees for chief of police during government class.

Class Assembles New Experiment Kits

SILICON SLAB FOR SOLAR CELL—Honors science students Ernest Logemann and Shirley Norris, right, direct Robert Armstrong as he grinds a sliver of silicon.

THREE BOTTLES ARE ENOUGH—Michael Viar and Vaughn Crigler collect oxygen for experimentation purposes during chemistry lab.

Supplementing the three weeks' study of advanced physics were the new Bell Telephone experiment kits for honors science class. Separated into three levels of difficulty, these projects explored fields of oscillator construction, silicon solar cell development, and building a synthetic speech apparatus.

MICROSCOPE STUDY—Carolyn Miller, Phyllis Stevens, Carroll Coffey, Linda Bragg, and Josie Compton use high-powered instruments to study protozoa during Preparatory Eighth Grade science class.

Algebra, Trig Merge in New Course

OVERHEAD PROJECTION—Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell uses the new projector to emphasize principles in Math 8 class.

To provide the intermediate step between contemporary geometry and honors mathematics, the department added trig-algebra. College-level trigonometry composed the first semester's work. Pupils studied inverse functions, identities, and triangular measurement. The second term was a composite course. Instructor Mrs. Walter Palmer and math professors of the University of Virginia discussed the areas in which college freshmen have most difficulty. By combining their suggestions and information from several advanced algebra texts, she presented a note study of complex numbers and graphs.

New algebra and trigonometry books helped change the emphasis of classes from contemporary to modern approach to mathematics. Through aid of the National Defense Education Act the department purchased an overhead projector to improve classroom comprehension. With help of the machine, teachers could face class while completing problems or examples on a transparency. The work would immediately appear on front board behind instructor's back for pupils' inspection. General fund financed two sets of compasses and meter sticks for students' use during the various class periods.

COMPLEXITIES OF COSINE X—Ann Reaugh copies an intricate trig-algebra problem on the board for class inspection and discussion.

LATEST EQUIPMENT—Charles Seale and Charles Parker work with math department's new compasses and rulers.

TRAVELS OF AENEAS—Virgil students, Collier Cropp and Joy White, right, play the new album of The Aeneid, while John Davies and Phyllis Cothran trace the wanderings on a classical map of Mediterranean area.

Language Pupils Use Vocalette, Records

The language department with aid from the National Defense Education Act acquired new educational equipment. The $1,300 vocalette for Spanish classes consisted of a teacher's master panel and twelve individual headsets, each with its own microphone, volume control, and built-in amplifier. Each pupil could hear and correct his own answers to tape drills as he spoke. With the switches on the control panel the teacher could tune in any student during an exercise. Classical students used records narrating the campaigns of Caesar and travels of Aeneas in English and in Latin to supplement their studies.

Housed in new quarters, the Spanish sector added an advanced third-year class. Concentrating on conversation and comprehension, the course included vocalette tape work, grammar instruction, aural understanding, and translation of Spanish stories from Reader's Digest and other magazines.

The new class's classical counterpart, Latin IV (poetry), included detailed study of mythology and the important figures of the Augustan Age. Intensive examination of construction, scansion, and vocabulary complemented the translation of The Aeneid. Each member of the class had to develop a term paper concerning some facet of the epic; studies of the travels, religious faith, animals, plants, and place names composed the list of projects.

Art Service Committee Makes Posters

The latest addition to the art department was the art service committee. Seventeen members, headed by Mrs. Richard Jones, sponsor, and Ruth Blanks, chairman, provided any needed posters for school clubs or town organizations. The group charged at least 25 cents, in addition to the materials used, for each work. Proceeds accrued went into the fund to finance the purchase of a reproduction of a masterpiece for the school.

To aid homeroom teachers art students were assigned specific bulletin boards. As a year-round project the pupils maintained attractive, tasteful displays. Classes prepared and devised original creations in glass-work, mosaics, ceramics, potato prints, metal enameling, tempura, oil, water colors, pastel chalk, and charcoal.

Band classes, in addition to learning more about the various instruments, studied the life and style of Ferde Grofé, composer of the Mississippi Suite. Student musicians were responsible for the definitions of terms and for learning the keys and key signatures. During the spring each class member took his turn directing the band unit in music from popular Broadway plays. Students had to identify the various times, rhythms, and types of music.

AMATEUR ARTISTS—Josephine Jeffries applies finishing touches on an original art class mosaic as Dewey Duncan surveys his oriental glass mobile to be shown in P-TA Arts and Crafts display, April 9.

"I OBJECT!"—Jerry Burton, defense attorney, rises to argue a point with district attorney, Rance Spellman, standing. Judge Michael Jenkins and witness Joseph Stanley listen to the business law class rendition of the Wahl vs. Strous case during study of principals and agents.

Diamond Jubilee Revises Gregg Method

With their largest enrollment in several years, shorthand classes adopted the Diamond Jubilee method, a revision of the standard Gregg. Eliminating many of the more confusing points of theory, Jubilee enabled students to master the fundamentals and to concentrate on dictation speed in a shorter period.

F-F-F-SPACE—Second-year typists improve technique and speed by following directions flashed on front screen by new Skill-BUILDER, a controlled reading device.

JUBILEE DISCUSSION—Natasha Rixey and Janet Miller observe Faye Burke's explanation of the changes in Gregg shorthand's fundamental characters.

TV NURSING—Kim Strickland, Kyle Estes, Emily Smith, Susan Aylor, Rae Estes, April Harouff watch nursing instruction on the new TV set, lower right, during first period home economics class.

Home Ec Installs TV Nursing Course

Home Economics I class used the school's first television set to study Red Cross home nursing. The ten half-hour installments of the course explained baby care, treatment of sick, and use of thermometer. Mrs. Kate White, registered nurse, attended twice a week to answer questions.

ELECTRICITY STUDY—Richard Burke and Charles Gibbs attempt to wire panels in the agriculture shop.

LEATHER TOOLING—Industrial arts student, Frederick Reese, uses a fid to finish the pattern on a leather handbag.

Students Secure Behind-Wheel Training

"BLACK MAG"—Mary Aylor, Helen James, Elaine Haught, and Jane Inskeep learn an English folk dance in their sophomore physical education class.

Under the direction of Coach Joseph Hockman the first class of behind-the-wheel driving instruction in several years began during the winter. Composed of ten hours of training, the course enabled pupils to gain practice in steering safely and parking correctly.

LAST MINUTE BRIEFING—Mr. Joseph Hockman discusses the fundamentals of driving with Scott Crafton before the actual lesson.

Subsequent to the completion of lessons, the student received a certificate of achievement. The trainee's parents were entitled to a five per cent discount on automobile insurance policies.

Eighth Graders Take Orientation Class

"HERE'S HOW IT WORKS"—Donald Mills, right, demonstrates use of duplicator to members of eighth grade orientation class.

PA COMES TO SCHOOL—Mr. Carrol Guinn helps son, Roger, complete his next year's schedule with assistance of Mr. Donald Judy, guidance counselor.

Orientation courses, held second and third periods, acquainted eighth graders with classes, rules, and club and school activities.

VOCATION SELECTION—Mr. James Revell, right, explains to Pauline Collier, Daniel Kenyon, and Charles Abernethy

the way to translate the dots in the occupational exploration kit into a suitable career.

Progression of the classes has always formed the most mobile part of CCHS. From the first days as nervous eighth-graders to their final rewards in the senior year, pupils as a body have caused far-reaching changes in the school system. The never-ending struggle to learn and to mature advanced the class activities of the

Students

OFFICERS FOR THE CLASS OF '64—Randolph Young, vice president; John Brown, treasurer; Mr. Floyd Binns, adviser; Sarah Witten, president; Faye Musselman, secretary.

With the smallest number of members since 1959, the senior class underwent several changes. It occupied only three homerooms. Martha Chaverri, a native of Costa Rica, spent her senior year here as a foreign exchange student and lived with the Thomas O'Hallorans in Viewtown. This provided an opportunity for the students to become acquainted with the culture and customs of Latin America.

The president called a class meeting January 27 to discuss plans for graduation, class day, and other activities. Students voted to take a trip to Washington, D. C., in the spring to sightsee and to attend a professional baseball game. The committees appointed for the class day presentation were song, motto, colors and poem.

Class of '65 held its 30th reunion on Aug. 26, '95 at Lake Side. Pete and I attended - Mary P. Davis

OFFICERS FOR THE CLASS OF '65: John Hill, treasurer; Catherine deRosset, vice president; Mrs. Walter Palmer, assistant adviser; Mrs. William O'Bannon, adviser; Patricia Akers, secretary; Carolyn Hodge, president.

With the largest eleventh grade in the history of the school, the junior class occupied five homerooms and had two advisers instead of one. They decorated for the graduation ceremony.

It was a year of testing for many juniors. Some of the college-bound students took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and College Boards. Still others tried their skill at Merit Scholarship Tests in hope of receiving financial assistance to further their education. The whole class took the SCAT and STEP tests September 16.

OFFICERS FOR THE CLASS OF '66—John Wilson, treasurer; Susan Beard, vice president; Mrs. Spencer Vaughan, adviser; William Saunders, president, Elaine Haight, secretary.

As the middle step in high school, the sophomore year contained many firsts and lasts for its members. They could join all the senior clubs and become probationary members of the National Honor Society. They became upperclassmen. It was their last year of taking physical education. They could take part in College Night and Career Day.

Mr. Donald Judy, head of guidance department, tried out a new system in the sophomore physical education classes. The purpose of this system—PQRST, Preview, Question, Review, State, Test—was to teach the students how to study more easily and thoroughly.

OFFICERS FOR THE CLASS OF '67—Marvin Brown—vice president, Jack Beard—treasurer, Mrs. Richard Jones—adviser, Kay Partlow—secretary, Robert Foster—president.

With the second largest ninth grade class in the history of the school, the freshmen occupied five homerooms. As full-fledged high school students, they moved from the eighth grade rooms in the white building to the distinction of the second floor in the main school.

The class took the SCAT and STEP tests with the juniors, but their scores were not quite as high on an average as those of the freshman of the preceding year. They also took part in the new guidance system PQIRST method Preview, Question, Read, State, Test—designed to help them study.

OFFICERS FOR THE CLASS OF '68—Keith Harris, vice president; Ronald Mills, secretary; Mr. Roland Clement, adviser; Ann Thomas, treasurer; David Martin, president.

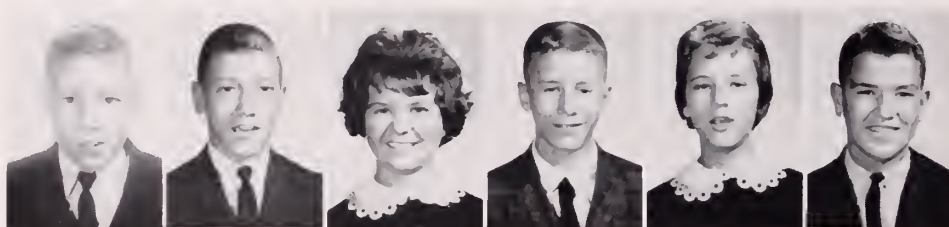

A swarm of eighth graders filled the halls the first day of school to bring the total enrollment to 758. This was the only class in which the boys outnumbered the girls. The homerooms were divided according to sex and in alphabetical order. Those students who possessed outstanding ability in any area took from one to four accelerated courses.

The class underwent a guidance course designed to familiarize them with the high school curriculum and rules. During the winter and spring members of the guidance department met with each eighth grader and his parents to form a tentative schedule for the next four years.

School Gets Its First Exchange Student

Through the joint efforts of the local chapter of the American Field Service and the Council, the town's first exchange student, Martha Chaverri of Costa Rica, arrived in August. Under the reciprocal program, the screening committee of the community named two students, Carolyn Hodge and John Davies, to Field Service Headquarters, New York, as applicants for the summer program.

To raise money the club sponsored a school magazine campaign. The entire student body canvassed the community for subscriptions. FBLA supervised the business side of the project. Macol Hash, highest salesman, received the fifty-dollar war bond. The club made a $230.08 profit, $56.02 of which went to the FBLA. Members also sold personalized stationery in February for the General Fund.

The club held exchange days with Orange County High School in the fall. Their class presidents, council president, and exchange student came to attend classes and an SCA meeting. Later Shirley Norris, Martha Chaverri, and class presidents went to Orange.

Club Sells Yule Cards to Raise Funds

As a money-making project, the club sold Christmas cards. Proceeds from the card sales went into funds for a scholarship given at graduation to the deserving senior member. A bake sale in February increased this fund.

Members surprised the teachers the day before Christmas vacation with corsages with holiday greetings printed on them. Some of the future teachers tended young children during P-TA meetings.

FTA provided training for students interested in teaching and familiarized them with the student-teacher relationship. Observing the teachers at Sycamore Park enabled the members to understand the work of the teachers.

Group Presents Film on Traffic Safety

For their yearly assembly the club presented a film on traffic safety, entitled "Death on the Highway" January 23. Officer Stevens of the state police answered questions prepared by the group and from the audience.

The society decided to give a scholarship to a deserving senior member at graduation. The sale of student telephone directories financed this grant.

Students eligible for membership in the organization were prescreened by the advisory committee and invited to the December meeting. This replaced the old method of interested pupils submitting their names to the faculty group and then being screened. Four seniors, 10 juniors, and 19 sophomores joined.

Safety Club Operates With New Leader

ALL ABOARD—Mr. Donald Judy and safety patrol members, Eleanor LeSueur, Ronald Burke, Brenda Douglas, Junior Haynes, and Ronald Pullen board bus to the state police headquarters for a tour.

An enlarged Safety Patrol operated with a new sponsor, Mr. Donald Judy. The main objective of the club is to preserve safety on the buses. Two members rode on each bus, and they stopped traffic at each bus stop. Patrolmen aided the driver in maintaining discipline. They work before and after school every day.

Forty-eight Safety Patrol members on December 6 toured the State Police Headquarters at Inlet. Captain Felix A. Bradley explained the latest safety equipment used for protection on the highway. Students viewed fire arms, a lie detector test demonstration, a narcotics display, and a fingerprint exhibit.

At their monthly meetings the members had such entertainment as movies and demonstrations of safety. The FBLA singing group, composed of Michael Jenkins and Roger Back performed at one of the meetings.

As a reward for promoting safer conditions, the club members took a trip in the spring. They visited the Skyline Drive and Luray Caverns.

Boys Co-Sponsor "Why the Chimes Rang"

With the help of the Tri-Hi-Y the Hi-Y presented the Christmas pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang." The Hi-Y selected Sarah Witten for the part of Mary, and the Tri-Hi-Y selected Larry Hansbrough to portray Joseph.

In September the officers attended the officers' workshop sponsored by the YMCA in Warrenton, Virginia. The boys learned how to improve their work.

The club sponsored its regular rummage sale in March. Some of the money earned was given to home missions and world service.

In April John Hill and Scott Crafton represented the Hi-Y at Model General Assembly. At MGA these boys witnessed how the state government operated.

On the second Sunday of each month members with the other two clubs went to the different churches of the county. With this activity the club "created, maintained, and extended high standards of Christian character."

Every Friday a member said grace during the two lunch shifts. A different blessing schedule was prepared each month.

With the other two clubs, the Hi-Y presented on March 26 a public panel discussion on the town's recreation.

Club Receives Ace Certificate at MGA

At Model General Assembly April 1 the club with the other two Y Clubs received its Ace Certificate for 1963-'64. The club had to fulfill fifteen requirements before March 25 to receive the certificate which is the highest award presented to Y Clubs.

Six members attended the District Hi-Y Conference held in Culpeper November 19. A few members helped the Tri-Hi-Y to plan the conference.

For the first time the members said the blessing. They said grace every Monday during the lunch shifts. With the other two clubs the girls voted to give the Culpeper Memorial Hospital twenty dollars from the Y-Teen fund.

Every month each member received a "Y's Owl." This brochure contained information about the state Y clubs and ideas for new projects.

Miss Nancy Hilton replaced last year's sponsor, Miss Laura Thornhill. Miss Thornhill became co-ordinator of the three Y clubs. Miss Thornhill replaced Mr. John Peifer, who served as co-ordinator for two years.

Tri-Hi-Y Celebrates Thirtieth Birthday

The Tri-Hi-Y celebrated its thirtieth birthday by serving as hostess for the Northern District Hi-Y Conference November 9. A local minister, the Rev. James Harrison, spoke on the theme, "This I Believe." The first president, Mrs. Zillah Gutowski, and sponsor, Mrs. H. B. Lacy, attended. The northern Y members held discussion groups and a business session. Phyllis Cothran, president of this year's conference, and Kate deRosset were elected vice president and secretary respectively for next year's conference.

For the first time the club sent a representative to the Hi-Y Leadership Training Course in Blue Ridge, North Carolina. Phyllis Cothran attended the course for a week.

Three delegates, who were selected on basis of their work, represented the club at Model General Assembly. Pam Foan served as the senator, Kate deRosset as a reporter, and Phyllis Cothran as a delegate. The Youth Governor signed the bill sponsored by the club.

Dramatists Present "Gone About Girls"

The Junior Dramatic Club presented a one-act comedy entitled "Gone About Girls," on March 19 at the student assembly. Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell, adviser, directed the play and coached the actors.

The play revolved around Franky Johnson, a basketball player whose world spun around attractive Stella Carrol. Franky's parents tried their best to persuade him to continue playing basketball, but even his best friend had difficulty convincing him.

Crisler Lindsay starred as Franky; Linda Powers as Stella Carrol. Richard Phelps and Cathy Stringfellow were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson. Scott Chilton portrayed Dodie Watson, his best friend; Joyce Stevens played Dodie's girl friend. Miss Sweetgarden, the confused teacher, was Roberta Crowell.

Folk Singers Stage First Hootenanny

The Rebels, a Madison folk-singing group composed of Junior Jenkins and Timothy Hoffinan, presented the school's first hootenanny, December 6, after the club's play. Following the theme of "Hillbilly Wedding," barefoot members of the cast paraded up and down the aisles, as they encouraged the audience to sing.

On the roster of mountain folks in the production were Randolph Jones and Billie Iager as Paw and Maw Belsnickle. Camilla Barron, Barbara Sumner, Mary Kinzer, Antoinette Verduce, Judith Bailey, and Rae Estes portrayed the numerous Belsnickle offspring. Ludwell "Zeke" Lake and the cousins completed the clan. Crisler Lindsay, as Ronald Maxwell, the unsuspecting bridegroom; Susan Aylor, his Aunt Lucy; the Uplager boys, Thomas Jones and Robert Houck; and Katherine "The Reverend" Cabbage composed the remainder of the cast.

Sharyn Jones, Margaret Ryan, Mary Atkins, Julia Dodd, Linda Finks, Katherine Botts, Glenda Dugan, Barbara Sumner, Linda Brown, Janice White, Susan Thornhill, and Patricia Haught, members of the make-up committee, were responsible for making up the characters.

Other committees that helped make the play possible were finance, prompters, program, costuming, play reading, ushers, staging, and props.

Thespians Hold Initiation for Performers

Students who had acquired ten points by taking part in plays were eligible for membership in Thespian Troupe 1067. During the initiation in October members gave a covered dish supper. Following the initiation the entire group went to the home football game.

The actors presented a one-act play, "Jacob Comes Home," the story of a Jewish family in World War II Berlin, for competition in district.

Paper Wins Honor at Journalism Clinic

EVERYBODY HERE?—Faye Musselman, Mrs. Aubrey Ross, Ann Reaugh, Patricia Haught, Emily Button, Mr. Walter Potter, and Mary Robson enter a building at the newspaper clinic on the University of Richmond campus.

The Pepergram staff, which publishes ten papers each school term, was headed this year by Collier Cropp and Pat Haught.

Ann Reaugh, managing editor, helped with make-up of the entire paper and Emily Button, news editor, worked with news stories and assignments. Dorothy Button, exchange editor, used interesting or humorous stories from other school papers to compile her column, "Borrowed Bits."

Faye Musselman and Mary Robson handled feature stories, Mary also wrote a column, "Thru' the Mill Once Again."

John Davies reported on boys' sports while Kay Gamble covered girls' athletic events. Alan Wohlleben was staff photographer.

Mary Atkins headed the business staff, and Margaret Ryan, advertising manager, was assisted by Evelyn Ingram in ad make-up and sales. Faye Gulas, circulation manager, was in charge of getting the Pepergrams folded, mailed to subscribers, and distributed to

Yearbook Receives All-American Rating

THANK YOU—Jane Furgiuele receives 1963 SIPA trophy from Mr. Charles Jennings, director of the convention.

National Scholastic Press Association awarded the 1963 COLONNADE the All-American rating. The book also received Medalist at Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Snow holidays enabled the staff to meet their March deadline. Many members had an entire period devoted to book work. Those without a study hall stayed after school to complete the sections.

Two staff members attended Southern Interscholastic Press Association, May 1 and 2, at Washington and Lee University in Lexington. By taking part in panel discussions, by absorbing the lectures of experts, and by comparing various other yearbooks, they obtained information about the operation of a good publication.

Staff celebrated the production of the yearbook at a banquet served by the Future Homemakers of America in May. At this time members received a pre-distribution glimpse of their books. Members of the circulation staff were responsible for the distribution of the books to the student body the next day.

The circulation and advertising staffs accrued the income for the publication. Subscription salesmen contacted the students and teachers without activity tickets and any interested people in the community. Ad staff solicited from local businesses space in the book.

The business manager kept the minutes, roll, financial records, and attended to all other business activities.

Each organized sport and club received coverage in the book. All students, alphabetized by grade, had individual pictures in the publication. Student photographers captured on film the main activities of the classes, courses, clubs, sports, and all phases of school life. A section devoted to the faculty and administration depicted the educators and described the curriculum. The index included all students, instructors, or people in some way connected with the school mentioned in the publication. Head typist and typing classes completed the job of recopying all written material before the deadline.

Prices of subscriptions, pictures, and ads increased due to a red ledger on the '63 book.

Vocalists Rehearse on Monday Nights

DO-RE-MI—Mr. Aubrey Hall, standing, smiles in approval at the singing of Donna Fincham, Carol Tomblin, and Susan Crafton.

Keeping exactly the same number of girl members as last year and boasting the addition of four boys, the Choral Club met each Monday night at seven o'clock for practice. Its purpose was to give each student the opportunity to learn more about music and to participate in musical programs. Liking to sing, trying to learn, and attending the regular weekly meetings were the only requirements for membership.

The Choral Club displayed a bulletin board and sang at the December P-TA meeting. It held musical programs at the monthly meetings.

DO and ICT Merge to Form DE Club

The Diversified Occupations class and the Industrial Cooperative Training Club united to form the Distributive Education Club. Members attended classes in the morning and worked at various businesses during the afternoon. This club allowed students to attend school and earn wages at the same time.

With the addition of three girls the club boasted of twelve members. They participated in the activities at the district and state conferences in Richmond. The club held an employer and employee banquet. The group also conducted a community survey which helped to compare the town's shopping center with those of other areas in the state.

Newberry's and the Pelham House employed the three girl members.

Candy Helps Purchase New Clarinets

For the second year musicians sold 4,800 chocolate bars for a net profit of $900. The bars, weighing a quarter of a pound, sold for fifty cents each. Katherine Miller was high salesman. With the proceeds from the chocolate sale, the band purchased a new bass clarinet and an alto clarinet.

The marching band attended the annual

In the spring the band presented its annual concert in the Ann Wingfield School Auditorium. A few selections played by the band are "Mississippi Suite," "Night Beat," "Overture for Winds," "Our Glorious Land," "Marching Bosa Nova," "A Woman in Love," "Wedding of the Winds," "Three/Four for Two,"

"Fascination," and "The Star-Spangled Banner." During the concert Mr. Thomas announced that Shirley Fincham, head majorette, and Robert Armstrong were the outstanding girl and boy bandsmen.

The sixty piece marching band attended the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester during May. The concert band presented concerts at RPI and the Richmond Veterans' Hospital May 24. The group gave a school assembly on June 12.

Minister Speaks to Girls on Marriage

CAUTION—The Rev. Randall Blankenship tries to be careful while talking to Mrs. Blankenship and the members of the FHA about marriage.

During the February meeting the Reverend Randall Blankenship, pastor of Hopewell Methodist Church, spoke to the group on the importance of a successful marriage. He expressed the necessity of choosing the suitable mate and of being a good provider.

During the year the FHA conducted two bake sales. Profits were used to finance the FFA-FHA Banquet in March.

Mrs. Paul Stanfield demonstrated to the members how to make attractive, inexpensive decorations for Christmas. Members served refreshments at each faculty meeting. The girls, modeling clothes they had made during the year, presented a fashion show in April. Some of the members worked toward the Junior Homemaker Degree.

FFA Joins FHA for Spring Banquet

CONGRATULATIONS—Warren Aylor and Joan Bennett watch Thomas O'Halloran present Richard Burke with his award at the 1963 FFA banquet.

Future Farmers and Future Homemakers held a banquet on April 10. Here the awards for the year were presented.

The club entered the forestry contest held in Stafford on October 16. The Culpeper team placed fourth. The members entered the soil event held in Spotsylvania on November 13 and placed sixth. The local chapter served as host to the federation during the Crops and Farm Mechanics contest, where they placed third in crops event. The club participated in public speaking and dairy judging. Both events were held in Spotsylvania. The club also participated in the tractor driving and livestock judging in the spring.

The FFA was a member of the George Washington Federation. Other schools participating in the activities of this federation were Caroline, C. T. Smith, King George, Spotsylvania, and Stafford. Kenneth Smith served as sentinel for the federation. Several delegates attended the federation's annual banquet Wednesday, February 19, in Stafford.

Mr. Shirley C. Broyles, the adviser of the club, with his considerable knowledge of agriculture sponsored the organization in its many activities. This was Mr. Broyles second year with the club.

Miss Barbara Kinsey, Frances Bayne, Brenda Frazier, Barbara Aylor, and Joice Baldwin attended the Regional Planning Meeting at Madison College on November 16.

The Employer-Employee Banquet, February 14, celebrated Business Emphasis Week. During the event the presiding officer announced the following winners of local contests: Evelyn Jenkins, spelling; Jean Hawkins, public speaking; Barbara Jenkins, essay; Joice Baldwin and Michael Jenkins, Miss and Mr. FBLA; Jerry Clatterbuck and Evelyn Jenkins, beginning and advanced typing; Frances Bayne, parliamentary law. The parliamentary law team, Frances Bayne, Linda Brown, Faye Burke, Joice Baldwin, and Douglas Shaw, competed on the regional level. Joice Baldwin, regional president, conducted the Madison Regional Meeting at Madison College on April 4.

Members Exhibit Projects in Shows

COW COMES TO TOWN—Patricia and Walker Somerville groom their beef heifer on display at the 4-H Festival in November on the courthouse lawn.

The Eager Beavers devised individual projects for development throughout the year. Some of these included sheep, pigs, forestry, home economics, cooking, beef, dairy, and sewing. Members kept record books of their progress in each project. These projects prepared the members for similar work in the regular 4-H club. The club enabled high school boys and girls to develop their skills and then to exhibit their work in different shows. Many members won ribbons and prizes in farm shows.

The Eager Beavers studied Career Exploration and Which College for Me? These books were used to answer some of the many questions that arose concerning each individual's future career. Businessmen attended the meetings and discussed the requirements business firms demand of their employees. The main goal of the Junior 4-H boys and girls was to promote better leadership among the young people. As a money-raising project the entire group sold litter bags for automobiles.

Due to the resignation of the Future Teachers' adviser at mid-term, Mrs. Walter Palmer relinquished her position as sponsor of the Junior 4-H and filled the vacancy. New arrival Mr. John Davis became the Eager Beavers' faculty supervisor.

Club Sponsors Girls' Athletic Banquet

Club members presented their first banquet for girl athletes on April 17 at the Pelham House. Girls received letters and awards they had earned. After the installation of the newly-elected officers for the coming year, the Rebels, a folk-singing group from Madison, entertained. Gym assistants who did not belong to club received special invitations to the banquet.

In initiation ceremonies for the eight new members October 18, old members devised a great variety of trials. Initiates, complete with pigtails, ragged blue jeans, mix-matched shoes, football pads, onion necklaces and "Eat at Joe's" signs, did everything from singing "I Have Lost My Underwear" during the lunchshifts to pushing life-savers across the gymnasium floor. Dorothy Button was the winner of the life-saver pushing contest. As entertainment for their superiors and adviser, Mrs. Janet-Cary Wayland, the novices sang solos, danced the "New Horah," and stood on their head during the regular meeting.

The club gave the school a painting to be hung in the main hall. They prepared a bulletin board display in October and elected Dianne Howell to represent the club as a candidate for Homecoming Queen.

Monogram members staged their annual Monogram-Faculty basketball game on March 5. Those club members ineligible to play volunteered to cheer or to officiate. To raise money, the girls sold candy during the game and had a cake auction at halftime with Mr. Herbert Hash as auctioneer.

Monogram Boys Usher at Football Games

Composed of boys who had received a letter in a junior varsity sport, the Junior Monogram Club assisted the athletic department at many sports events. At football games they ushered spectators to their seats, collected tickets, sold programs, and watched the fences to make sure that no one entered without paying.

As a money-making project they sold candy and potato chips at all the home basketball games.

Varsity Initiates Perform at Half Time

Varsity initiates performed in diapers and baby bonnets before the spectators at the Faculty-Varsity Club basketball game held on February 22. At half time they led the audience in singing the school alma mater, and then crawled around the gymnasium. The baby boys then refreshed themselves with bottles of milk. At the close of Faculty-Varsity Club game the babies played a basketball game of their own.

The lettermen sponsored the annual Homecoming. For 50 cents any club or homeroom could nominate a candidate to the court. Each class voted for a girl to represent their class and for the queen. This year three officers of the club, Walton Jeffress, Donald Mills, and Larry Hansbrough, crowned Queen Emilie Friend.

Club members planned their annual banquet for distribution of awards. Any boy with an athletic letter in varsity football, varsity basketball, wrestling, track or baseball was eligible to attend.

Jayvee Group Selects Fore as Captain

Fifteen eager and enthusiastic girls tried out for positions on the Junior Varsity cheerleading squad in early fall. The board of judges, consisting of cheerleading sponsors, coaches, and class presidents watched each girl perform two cheers individually. The girls were judged on the basis of poise, jump, enunciation, enthusiasm, knowledge of the cheer, pitch of the voice, and appearance. Linda Sprouse was chosen as first alternate. The squad chose Elizabeth Fore captain.

Every Thursday the Junior Varsity practiced in the upstairs hall. They cheered for all the jayvee athletic events, and wore their uniforms to school the day of each contest. The squad sold programs before all varsity home football games to help the boys' athletic association raise money.

The cheerleading squad had three sponsors. Mrs. Janet-Cary Wayland, Miss Sara Louthan, and Mrs. Roland Clement were each responsible for the cheerleaders for two months.

JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS—Jane Hudson, Patricia Foan, Jean Graham, Alycia Farrar, Elizabeth Fore—captain, Virginia Brown, Christine Ganskopp, Gwendolyn Hitt.

Mrs. Clement had September and October, Miss Louthan November and December, and Mrs. Wayland January and February.

Every two months there was a change in sponsors for the cheerleading squad. Miss Sara Louthan, Mrs. Janet-Cary Wayland, and Mrs. Roland Clement were the alternating sponsors.

To conclude the year's activities the cheerleaders ordered gold pins. They gave a party on their last Thursday practice in the upstairs hall.

To increase school spirit the cheerleaders sold blue and gold pennants for 25 cents. They distributed cheer booklets, assembled a bulletin board, displayed signs and posters in the halls, and composed new cheers. The girls practiced twice a week during the summer and every Thursday during football and basketball seasons. They decorated the goal posts before home football games and cheered at all the varsity athletic events. Girls wore their uniforms to school the day of any basketball or football game.

At homecoming the cheerleaders wore chrysanthemum corsages. They held a pep rally before the game and after the game had a slumber party at Phyllis Huff's house.

At home football games the varsity cheerleaders used a loud speaker so that everyone could hear the cheers more clearly. The traditional megaphone aided girls at games where facilities weren't provided.

Ranging from the tenth to the twelfth grades, ten girls tried out for positions on the varsity squad in late spring. The Board of judges chose eight girls on the basis of

Rinkeydinks Down Woodberry Forest

It was a rough season for Coaches William Wenzel and James Warren, as well as for the junior varsity team as a whole. During the campaign they managed to bring home but one victory, though making good showings several times. The boys put forth great team effort and progressed steadily as the season wore on.

Their lone seasonal win came over the team from Woodberry Forest Prep School. Behind the passing of Quarterback James Herndon

Baby Devillettes captured first place in the Battlefield District this season. As a result they competed in the tournament, held at James Monroe, December 19. The Jayvees lost to James Monroe, 19-18. With the half tally 10-10, J. M. took a third quarter lead 17-12. In the fourth frame, with 20 seconds remaining, Pat Murphy connected with a free throw to put locals ahead 18-17. J. M.'s Marilyn Gallant shot a long two-hander that won the game.

Individual scoring found Sue Coffey top with 80 points; Berry 75, Murphy 49, Carter 24, Riley 18, Tomblin 12, Inskeep 10, Van Lieu 2, and Thornhill 1.

Scoring honors went to Kay Kilby, who hooped 112 points. Following her were Patricia Akers with 80, Sarah Witten with 51, and Marsha Stanfield with 35. Gail Simmons racked 11, Dianne Howell nine, and guards, Margie Smith seven, Linda Lewis four, Frances Hawkins two, and Judy Coppedge one point.

Coach Wayland expressed hope that the valuable experience gained by the girls will put a stronger team on the court in the '64 season. The team will be losing the services of three seniors, Sarah Witten, Marsha Stanfield, and Dianne Howell.

Fifteen eighth, ninth, and tenth grade boys made up the Junior Varsity Basketball team. The juniors started a very unstable season by losing their first two games and winning only two of their first ten. Recovering to win the last six encounters, they ended the season with eight wins and eight defeats.

Ineligible for the midseason Battlefield District games, Dinks failed to qualify for seasonal tournament by half a game.

After being defeated by a substantial margin in their first outing against the much favored Albemarle Patriots, the Devils played one of their best games in the return conflict.

The Patriots got off to a quick lead, but at the end of the first quarter the blue and gold trailed by only one point. The second quarter saw the two teams battle to a 27-27 tie. When regulation playing time of second half ended, the score was deadlocked at 55 all.

In the three-minute overtime Devils made the first bucket. Albemarle's 13 then scored, and locals missed a shot. Just before the buzzer sounded, Patriots dropped the winning two-pointer.

Unorganized Sports Draw Boys, Girls

Twenty-eight eager girls turned out for varsity and junior varsity field hockey practice in early September. Since hockey wasn't an official team sport, girls scheduled games with only James Monroe and Stafford. In the J. M. tilt Linda Sisk, Barbara Ellis, and Sue Coffey scored for the locals, but the team was unable to match the more experienced J. M. squad. Next year the girls hope to break into Battlefield District competition.

In its first year the junior varsity wrestling squad won two matches and lost two. They scored victories over Osbourn and Miller, while dropping attempts with Augusta and Orange. Mr. Joseph Hockman, coach, believed that the added experience of a junior varsity team would enable the boys to develop a better varsity team.

Accompanied by Coach Joseph Hockman, the team spent a week end in Richmond where each boy wrestled in three different matches. In their competition, two boys, Paul Butler of the 133 lb. wt. class, and Harry Wince of the 180 lb. wt. class, remained undefeated and represented the school in the state tournament.

The 1963 junior thinclads finished the 1963 season with a record of two wins and two set-backs. Sparked by Ronald Jenkins and Floyd Weakley in the short distance events, and Addison Willis in the long distance and field events, the juniors were able to score impressive victories over Osbourn and Rock Hill.

Locals downed the Jayvee from Rock Hill by a score of 84-33 April 22. The military academy could manage to take only two of the possible fourteen first places, as Devils took the remaining twelve. Addison Willis was the only triple first-place winner, while Floyd Weakley was the only member to capture two first places.

Junior thinclads slaughtered the Junior Osbourn Raiders by a score of 104-10 on April 24. Culpeper captured all first places in the meet, all but two second places, and one third. Floyd Weakley was the only triple first-place winner. The running events were coached by Mr. William Wenzel and Mr. James Warren, while Mr. Joseph Hockman instructed the field events. With participation on the increase each year, the junior thinclads look forward to a promising future in 1964.

The cindermen scored second place in the fourth annual Battlefield Relays April 6 by racking up 40 points against first place James Monroe. The shuttle-hurdle relay team of James West, Jerry Hoyt, Frank Jenkins, and Billy Butler crossed the finish line in 54.7, to shatter the old school record of 57 seconds. The mile relay team of Donnie Bowen, Walton Jeffress, David Feaganes, and Jerry Brown broke the tape at 3:42.6 to take first place over Orange, past district champions.

By capturing the pole vault, the thinclads squeezed by Gar-Field. A bad exchange in the mile relay cost locals the race and put the Indians ahead by two points. With only the pole vault remaining, William Barron, at 11 feet, defeated Wayne Tyson on fewer misses.

sophomore Ulysses Sudduth held the James Monroe's Yellow Jackets for five innings, striking out 13 to gain a three-run lead and preserve the 3-2 decision.

On the offensive, two sophomores, outfielder Joseph Stanley and catcher Robert Tipton, proved to be the Devils' big guns. Stanley finished the season hitting at a .353 clip while Tipton contributed a hefty .314.

Composing the pitching staff were Roy Smith, Ulysses Sudduth, and Alan Wohlleben, junior, sophomore, and freshman, respectively. All three turned in creditable performances all year.

Left fielder Joseph Stanley led the hitters with .353. First baseman John Durant had .333. Catcher Robert Tipton finished with .314.

The Devilettes, underfeated in 24 consecutive games, dropped their next chance in the first encounter with the Stafford girls. This was the first defeat for the girls since April 29, 1960.

Local lassies staged their most impressive victory on home ground against Warrenton in their last game of the season. Lowering the boom in the third inning, they pushed 16 runs across the plate. Cook and J. Berry collected two homeruns each; A. James blasted another to add to the 23 local hits.

School Life

Scat, Step Tests Greet Juniors, Frosh

Scampering, scurrying, and hurrying through the halls on a sunny August 31, students and faculty returned to classes. With summer vacation over, the old routine was soon resumed.

A couple of weeks after school started, freshmen and juniors took SCAT and STEP tests. College-bound juniors and seniors took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests.

Highlighting the first month for seniors was the arrival of class rings. Underclassmen finally grew accustomed to finding a fist thrust forward to display the new adornment.

SCA officers, homeroom representatives, committee chairmen, and club presidents took oaths of office in an impressive and dignified service.

Seniors also enjoyed having all the senior privileges, like eating at the senior table, marching into assemblies, and having the underclassmen stand up for them.

As a school service and money-making project FBLA members sold second-hand texts in room 7. Future business leaders kept ten percent of the sales price; the receipt-bearing contributor of the book received the rest.

"WANT MY MONEY?"—Charles Brown and Lou Phillips sell second-hand books to Paul Wohlleben and Mary

Captains Crown Homecoming Queen

"How ABOUT THIS ONE?"—Macol Hash, top salesman of the campaign, persuades Miss Mildred Jones to buy a magazine subscription.

Bright spirits and chilly weather made Homecoming an event to remember. The highlight of the game was the crowning of Queen Emilie Friend. According to tradition, at half-time the court rode around the ball field. Then tri-captains of the football team, Walton Jeffress, Donald Mills, and Larry Hansbrough, performed the coronation ceremony. Accompanying Queen Emilie were attendants Faye Musselman, maid of honor; Margie Smith, junior princess; Arlene Kilpatrick, sophomore princess; Jean Smith, freshman princess; and Anne Thomas, eighth grade princess. After the first Homecoming victory of the football team in 11 years many went to the Country Club for a dance.

Although the students did not reach the goal, Macol Hash came out as high salesman in the magazine campaign conducted by the SCA. The Band held its second annual candy sale October 20-November 1. The Band went to the University of Virginia October 26 to participate in the annual Band Day.

College-bound juniors and seniors took the PSAT Aptitude Tests October 19 in the school cafeteria. Annual picture-taking was one of the highlights of the month.

Students Lament Death of President

"Students, the rumor that the President of the United States and the Governor of Texas have been shot is true." Pupils, gathering for club meetings, heard the principal's announcement blare over the public address system November 22. Thirty anxious minutes later, John Kennedy's death was reported. School closed November 25 to honor the country's youngest leader. During the thirty-day period of official mourning, the flag flew at half-mast.

some homerooms gave parties to end the old year. The Hi-Y clubs presented as the traditional Christmas play, Why the Chimes Rang. Sarah Witten and Larry Hansbrough portrayed Mary and Joseph.

The boys' basketball team galloped off with a big bang by losing the first game to Albemarle. The girls' basketball team ended with a bang by winning. The Jayvees were eligible to enter the tournament. Wrestling teams started competition December 7.

The Dramatic Club presented the play, "Hillbilly Wedding," December 6. After the production a hootenanny with music by the Rebels provided entertainment for the audience.

Scared and nervous seniors took College Entrance Examinations December 7. These would help make a vital decision which could change a whole life for a senior.

During the last two days before school let out for Christmas, some old faces were not seen. Students, if they had a job, could bring a note from their respective employers and get out of school for the two entire days.

Before the yule holiday home ec classes made stuffed animals for gifts. SCA representatives placed a welfare food basket in each room.

Snow Interrupts Examination Schedule

January 1 proved to be an icy and slippery day. All of which had something to do with going back to school. The bad weather prevented the normal resumption of classes. Students of CCHS had two extra days in which to do nothing!

But, as all tramped back to school, the ring of mid-year exams sounded in everyone's ears. Exams were taken January 23, 24 and 27. The usual day vacation after examinations was canceled to make up one of the snow holidays.

All through the month snowstorms occurred, compelling schools to be closed. Despite the interruptions clubs continued to work on their various projects and activities. The members of the COLONNADE and Pepergram had to rush to meet their deadlines that were just rounding the corner. The flu bug dropped by school to see how everyone was doing and then started a new fad, the flu epidemic.

The National Honor Society presented an assembly. Trooper Stevens from the State Police showed a film Death on the Highway, which showed actual highway deaths.

"MAKE THAT FOUL SHOT!"—The cheerleaders and students wait expectantly to see if the extra point will be made.

ALL DONE!—Mrs. Roland Clement throws her last batch of exam papers onto the stack in the office. Mrs. Powell Button and Joice Baldwin are working on midterm office chores.

Beatle Mania Seizes Entire Student Body

The popularity of the Beatles, British singing idols, highlighted the shortest month. Prompted by the singers' performances in Washington, D. C., and on television, some students purchased albums and wigs. Many boys boasted Beatle bobs. The most prevalent evidence of the craze was the almost incessant hum of students singing the top songs in halls, cafeteria, and in locker rooms.

The Future Business Leaders of America stressed Business Emphasis Week, February 17-22, by putting up bulletin boards and putting an exhibit in Leggett's window. They held their annual employer-employee banquet at the Pelham House, February 14. During the next week the club staged its annual assembly. Camilla Barron acted as master of ceremonies and announced all the winners in the various FBLA contests. Jean Hawkins delivered her prize-winning speech concerning career planning. It focused on her personal plans to become a secretary. She emphasized the dress, manners, and diction appropriate for secretaries. Michael Jenkins ended the program by singing popular songs and by accompanying himself on the guitar.

Basketball and wrestling prevailed in the gym during February. Crowds of students attended games in which various teams demonstrated their prowess.

"I DON'T REALLY WANT IT!" Linda Myers scans her report card while Mr. Andrew Puckett hands Jack Jones his.

Snow Slices Time from Easter Vacation

As the sun began to peek through clouds, students began to get restless and tired of studying. Spring, always a sign of approaching summer vacation, was rounding the corner. An early Easter vacation, limited to two days because of snow, brought students and teachers a long awaited holiday.

The Junior Dramatic Club presented the play "Gone About Girls" before the student body. The story of the lovelorn basketball player provided the light touch needed in midst of the six-weeks' work.

Parents were invited to come to school during SCAT-STEP night to see how well their children did on the tests taken in the fall. Many groups decided to take trips. The Library Club planned to visit Washington. The SCA convention met in Richmond.

Student scientists continued work on their individual projects for the annual fair. Qualified local judges selected the best entries from each of the five levels and awarded appropriate prizes.

The Y Teens' open panel discussion on the town's recreational facilities occurred March 26. The Reverend John Jordan, the Reverend

LOOK AT ALL THE PROJECTS—Students look over the science fair during study hall and science class.

Horace Douty, and Mr. George Beard represented the parents and ministers of the community. Linda Barret and Roy Smith led the three Y clubs; Pamela Foan moderated.

Month Introduces Play, Spring Sports

"HENRIETTA THE EIGHTH"
—Susan O'Halloran, Patricia Haught, and William Kirkpatrick follow along in their books, as Emilie Friend reads her part at senior play practice.

Students began thinking of spring sports, more conventions, plays, and tournaments as April got under way. Delegates went to FBLA Regional Meeting at Madison College; the State Convention met in Roanoke. The senior class presented "Henrietta the Eighth." Members of the cast rehearsed after school and at night to make their performances as flawless as possible.

Spring sports, baseball, track, softball, resumed. Spectators and participants found their afternoons filled with games and meets.

Delegates from the Pepergram and COLONNADE and their advisers went to the Southern Interscholastic Press Association at Lexington. Delegates from the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y attended Model General Assembly.

"YIPPEE!" — Devilettes win, after losing their first game with Gar-Field.

Clubs, Publications Present Banquets

Sunny, beautiful, bright days of May brought spring fever, banquets, and awards to hard-working students. The Pepergram staff held its annual banquet where new officers were installed. The COLONNADE staff gave its banquet, when all members saw their brand-new yearbooks before anyone else, even before the seniors. All boys who had played sports during the year attended the Boys' Monogram banquet. Letters and medals went to all outstanding athletes.

Inevitable exams meant extra work. Students pored over books during lunch hour and every other minute they could spare. These exams could determine passing or failing for the term. For some it was the last exams to be taken in high school career.

Seniors, both happy and sad, gave the traditional Class Day. Anticipation of graduation and summer vacation filled the atmosphere during the last full month of classes.

To make Class Day exercises appeal to the underclassmen, seniors incorporated their Class History, Last Will and Testament, and Class Prophecy into a dramatic presentation which was enacted in an assembly.

"DO YOU UNDERSTAND THIS?"—Patricia Bates and Cynthia Booth try cramming before final exams.

"SIGN MY BOOK, PLEASE"—Rita Haught, Roy Smith, William Compton, Marsha Stanfield exchange books, while Nancy Frazier, Sarah Witten, and Joice Baldwin autograph each other's yearbooks on Class Day.

Last Month Bids Farewell to Students

"NEXT YEAR"—Graduate Ann Lane watches Juniors Emily Button and Ann Reaugh try on her cap in anticipation of next year.

Graduation, the most beautiful and impressive event of the whole year came June 9.

The students, happy and tearful, marched into the auditorium for the very last time as students. Mr. Paul Hounshell, superintendent of schools, presented the diplomas to the graduates. After the speeches of five top classmen, seniors received their awards and scholarships. Mr. John Farrar delivered baccalaureate sermon.

As they were ready to take their last educational step, all had made great plans. Some wanted to go into the business world, while others awaited next fall, when they would become college freshmen. Some were planning to get married and start a whole new life.

Most students looked ahead for the three beautiful months of swimming, water-skiing, beach fun, and no school. Others had to contend with eight weeks of summer school.

Seniors could then look back over their wonderful high school years. The first day as eighth graders, the years of underclassmen, and the senior year—marching into assemblies, Class Day, and eating at the senior table—were just memories. No senior will ever forget those years, the most cherished years of all life.

"HURRAH! SCHOOL'S OUT!" Eighth graders come running out of the white building on the last day of school.

Improved occupation training courses enabled pupils to cooperate with local merchants, not only as customers, but as employees. Future careers in the community hinge upon the close relationship between school and business. Other steps toward the bettering of this association are the

The 1963-64 COLONNADE staff wishes to convey its sincere appreciation to Mr. Walter Palmer, principal; Mrs. Aubrey Ross and the members of the Pepergram staff; the entire business department; Mr. Carl Goad and Mr. Ronald Jennings of Goad Camera Shop; Mr. William Dooley of The Stone Printing and Manufacturing Company; Mr. Harry Klein of Roanoke Engraving Company; and especially Miss Mary George Bolen, Mrs. Albert Houck, and Mr. Roland Clement, advisers, for their invaluable services throughout the year. In addition to the above mentioned, anyone who gave the slightest bit of aid to any member, receives the staff's grateful thanks.

Thundering out the doors and down the steps, students left school. Halls, resounding with the echoes of their departure, stood deserted. Another day ends. With the knowledge assimilated, pupils continue to grow and develop. Changes will go on.

Andy Davis

Mrs. Davies,

This year has certainly been wonderful -- I'll never forget the enjoyable (to say the least) times we spent with the entire Davies family. Next year I'll really miss those get-togethers.

As I said many times one of my few regrets about high school was not having you as my teacher. Not only <sup>(are)</sup> were you an inspiration (that's not just a big, fancy word -- I mean it) and guide for me in school and out, but one of my dearest friends. I know I won't ever be able to thank you properly for all the advice and help you have given me throughout high school. More than this, though, I am very glad I had the opportunity of getting to know you and your lovely family. You all will always be my favorite people -- almost a second family for me.

(Please excuse my awkward attempts at expressing myself -- I hope I have conveyed what

I meant to) Love always,
Jane
